A Very Short
Introduction

What is post-colonial theology? How does it relate to theology that emerged in historically colonial situations? These are two questions that get to the heart of Robert S. Heaney's work as he considers the extent to which theologians predating the emergence of post-colonial theology might be considered as precursors to this theological movement. Heaney argues that the

Download Free Kindle

S. Mbiti and Jesse N.K.

this is done,
fresh

both the nature

Through a

Christianity? In light of globalization
and migration,
how is the

what does it

Most of this

However, as Graham Huggan

points out, the term African literature is a problematic concept, because "it conveys a fiction of homogeneity" and ignores the cultural variety existing on the African continent.

Gikandi explains that the foundations of modern African literature have been laid by the process of colonization, e.g through education in Christian schools which have enabled today's forms of literature.

Postcolonialism

A Very Short Introduction

Gikandi emphasizes the irony of this fact: "[W]hile the majority of African writers were the products of colonial institutions, they turned to writing to oppose colonialism."

This leads to various problems when dealing with African writings, especially when applying the viewpoint of postcolonial criticism, which has been trying to theorize African writings since the 1980s.

Download Free Kindle

As Huggan points out, postcolonial criticism has been criticized "as subscribing to the very binaries (e.g. 'Europe and its Others') it seeks to resist." This paper contains an annotated

Filipino Americans have a long and rich history with and within the United States, and they are currently the second largest Asian group in the country.

However, very little is known about how their historical and contemporary relationship with America may shape their psychological experiences. The psychological

their historical experiences is colonial

internalized oppression. Some common manifestations of this phenomenon are

Skin-whitening products are used often by Filipinos in the Philippines to make their skins lighter. Skin whitening clinics and businesses are popular in the Philippines as well. The

Filipino

many Filipino
