"Haunted" by Tamara Thorne is, as one might guess, a story about a haunted house. I finished it today and I can easily say that this is one of all-time favorite books, and certainly the best haunted house story I have ever read. It's about a horror writer who purposely buys a storied haunted house, and moves in.

When a horror author and his teenage daughter move into a Victorian mansion that's said to be haunted, they soon find themselves possessed by murderous spirits. Reissue.

The picturesque community of Moonfall is getting ready for its most popular tourist attraction, the Halloween Hunt. Sara Hawthorne returns to the town and the haunted halls of St. Gertrude's Home for Girls, where a woman died a horrible death 12 years earlier. Sara is about to uncover St. Gertrude's hellish secret, one she'll carry with her to the grave.

Reprinted Edition The Piper clan emigrated from Scotland and founded the town of Santo Verde, California. The Gothic Victorian estate built there has housed the family for generations, and has also become home to an ancient evil forever linked to the Piper name. . . As a boy, Rick Piper discovered he had "the sight." It was supposed to be a family myth, but Rick could see the greenjacks--the tiny mischievous demons who taunted him throughout his childhood--and who stole the soul of his twin brother Robin one Halloween night. Now a widower with two children of his own, Rick has returned home to build a new life. He wants to believe the greenjacks don't exist, that they were a figment of his own childish fears and the vicious torment he suffered at the hands of his brother. But he can still see and hear them, and they haven't forgotten that Rick escaped them so long ago. And this time, they don't just want Rick. This time they want his children. . .

In the small, isolated California coastal town of Candle Bay, the Darling family of vampires live and peacefully run The Candle Bay Hotel and Spa. But now a rival vampire clan, the Dantes, have come seeking vengeance for a century-old grievance against the Darlings. The Dantes intend to make Candle Bay all their own--even if it means spilling human and vampire blood.

Haunted is a novel made up of twenty-three horrifying, hilarious, and stomach-churning stories. They ' re told by people who have answered an ad for a writer ' s retreat and unwittingly joined a " Survivor " -like scenario where the host withholds heat, power, and food. As the storytellers grow more desperate, their tales become more extreme, and they ruthlessly plot to make themselves the hero of the reality show that will surely be made from their plight. This is one of the most disturbing and outrageous books you ' ll ever read, one that could only come from the mind of Chuck Palahniuk.

A Little Bit of Hell on Earth When Zach Tully leaves Los Angeles to take over as sheriff of Eternity, a tiny mountain town in northern California, he's expecting to find peace and quiet in his own private Mayberry. But he's in for a surprise. Curmudgeonly Mayor Abbott is a ringer for long-missing writer Ambrose Bierce. There are two Elvses in town, a shirtless Jim Morrison, and a woman who has more than a passing resemblance to Amelia Earhart. And that's only the beginning. Eternity is the sort of charming spot tourists flock to every summer and leave every fall when the heavy snows render it an isolated ghost town. Tourists and New Agers all talk about the strange energy coming from Eternity's greatest attraction: a mountain called Icehouse, replete with legends of Bigfoot, UFOs, Ascended Masters, and more. But the locals talk about something else. The seemingly quiet town is plagued by strange deaths, grisly murders, and unspeakable mutilations, all the work of a serial killer the locals insist is Jack the Ripper. And they want Zach Tully to stop him. Now, as the tourists leave and the first snow starts to fall, terror grips Eternity as an undying evil begins its hunt once again ...

When she is invited to join Greenbriar University's elite sorority, Fata Morgana, Eve is plunged into a nightmarish realm of dark magic, sexual deviancy, corruption, and murder where evil thrives on the souls of its members. Original.

When the Blue Lady Walks... Since 1887, Cliffhouse Lodge has been famous for its luxurious accommodations, fine dining... and its ghosts. Overlooking Blue Lady Lake, nestled among tall pines, Cliffhouse has just been renovated by its owners, Teddy and Adam Bellamy, and their daughter, Sara. Cliffhouse has not always been a place of rest and respite, though. Over the years it has served many vices, from rum-running to prostitution - and although the cat house has been replaced by a miniature golf course and carousel, Cliffhouse retains its dark history; darkest during the Roaring Twenties, when a serial killer called the Bodice Ripper terrorized the town, and a phantom, the Blue Lady, was said to walk when murder was imminent. Death Walks With Her... Now, there's a new killer on the loose, and the Blue Lady sightings have returned. The Bellamys are losing maids, and guests are being tormented by disembodied whispers, wet phantom footprints, and the blood-chilling shrieks of mad laughter that echo through the halls of Cliffhouse in the dead of night. The little mountain town of Cliffside is the perfect hunting ground for a serial killer... and the Blue Lady. Police Chief Jackson Ballou has bodies piling up, and between the murders and the mysteries, he can hardly pursue his romance with Polly Owen. And Sara Bellamy may lose her true love before they even have their first kiss.

They are the envy of every young woman - and the fantasy of every young man. An elite sisterhood of Greenbriar University's best and brightest, their members are the most powerful girls on campus - and the most feared ...
