The Princeton Review GRE book focuses mainly on strategies rather than how to actually approach specific types of problems. Many of the strategies are common sense: process of elimination, plugging in answers, etc. Because of the diversity of the questions, I found it very difficult to determine when to use what strategy. After being frustrated with how little I was getting out of the Princeton ...

The largest of the islands that make up the greater Hong Kong area, Lantau remains decidedly separate from the urban sprawl of Hong Kong island and the Kowloon peninsula, boasting a wide array of native animals and plants as well as numerous longterm "visitors," such as a monk born in Fujian in 1897, an artisan guitar maker, traditional Chinese medical practitioners, and English botanists and graphic designers. Driving Lantau documents these lives and reconstructs various perspectives of the island over the past half century, from the effect of wars and waves of immigrants to marauding pirates and the introduction of Disneyland.
